

Grand Salon

This big room is the Grand Salon.

Here, they had parties and spent time with their friends.

In the windows, you can find more crests.

Look for them!

There are also dragons; did you find them?

Why do you think they are right there?

We'll help you! Dragons usually spit fire, and fire lights things up.

Many years ago, when there wasn't electrical lighting like we have now, to light up homes people lit up candles or lamps that burned oil or gas. The flames made some light, but the rooms were still darker than ours.

Answer: dragons are in the wall lamps

Did you notice that there are a lot of fireplaces in this house? In this room, the fireplace is especially big because it had to heat a big room.

Fortunately, in this house there was also a boiler in the basement. If you look around the bottoms of the walls in some rooms, you can see grates. The hot air came out of those.
